Poor Weman, It Is Estimated that the Collectors Will Be Unkind Enough to Ask Her fer $40,000.

If millionaires ever pray, and the most humble man will admit that men of wealth are sometimes suppliant, it is to be presumed that there are many silent petitions being sent forth that President Cleveland will veto the Tariff III, and thus kill the provision for the Although the 2 per ugh the 2 per cent. tax provided

Nearly Two Years Yet.

They have until July, 1896, however, to save the cash that the country demands, and then the 2 per cent. tax on omes in excess of $4,000 carned in the year 1805 will be due. Only the excess of $4,000 is to be taxed, and if it is not paid each year on or before July ! a penalty of 5 per cent. and interest at the rate of 1 per cent. a month is to be added. It is estimated by Treasury experts that the revenus derived from the income tax will be $30,000,000 a year. Other estimates vary from £5,000,000 to $40,000,000. Of this, New York's men of wealth and others not termed wealthy, but who live comfortably on more than $4,000 a year, will pay a large proportion.

Poor Russell Sage.

Russell Sage will contribute about $100,000, and his $5,000-a-year cierk, if he has one, will be obliged to do a little over a day's work for Uncle Sam.

It is for those who talk of hardships in the income tax to determine whether the cierk will give over his $20 or Uncle Russell his $20,000 with most regret.

The distinction of being Uncle Sam's best-paying individual will belong to William Waldorf Astor. But then his income is about $5,000,000 a year, so his bank account will not suffer to any great extent because of a payment to the Government of $152,225. William Waldorf Astor, Russell Sage and the Jay Gould state follow in the order named of the lount of income tax to paid by each, so ovided, of course, that President Clevelad signs the Tariff bill or allows it to come a law.

It will cost Mrs. Bradley Martin, Mrs. Anson Phelps Stokes, Clementina Furniss and Sophia R. Furniss about $10,000 each if the bill goes on the statute books, and if Mrs. Hetty Green doesn't succeed in dodging the collector it is estimated that she will have to part with $40,000.

estimated that she will have to part with $40,000. The feelings of the millionaires who are to be 'axed, if Mr. Cleveland says 80, may be partially alleviated by the fact that the net earnings of corporations are to be taxed before being paid out in dividends, so very few rich men will be obliged to give over the entire 8mount of their tax in a lump sum. Like men who buy their clears singly instead of by the box, because it doesn't seem to cost so much, they may thus be kept from believing themselves on the verge of bankrupicy when the Tax Collector comes around just before the Fourth of July.

The income tax is not a law yet, however, and as it may be interesting to know of some of those whose thoughts are probably concentrated on the single hope that President Cleveland will veto the bill, a list of New York and Brooklyn millionalres is appended. In the estimation of the income tax, no account is taken of the $4.000 exemption.

Pate of a Man Who Harped on His Mother's Cooking.

"Beautiful scenery here, isn't it?"
saked the young man of a solitary traveller whom he found pacing along the seashore.
"Well, no," replied the stranger, acgording to the St. Louis Post-Disnatch,
"I can't agree with you. I think the ocean is too small. It is no such ocean as my mother used to have."
"Your mother's ocean was superior, then?"
"Oh, yes, vastly superior. What tumbling breakers! What a magnificent sweep of view! What amplitude of distance! What fishing there was in my mother's ocean!"
"But the sky is magnificent here, is
is not, sir?"
"Too low and too narrow across the top," replied the stranger.

"Yes," said the stranger, "it is too low, and there isn't air enough in it, either. Besides, it doesn't air piumbovar the earth; it is wider from north to south than it is from east to west. I call it a pretty poor sky. It is no such sky as my mother used to have." Pardon me, but did your mother have a special sky and ocean of her wan?"

have a special sky and ocean of her own?"

Right here an old resident came up and drew the young man aside.
"Don't talk with him." said the old resident. "He is a hopeless lunatic. He is a man who always used to tell his wife about 'the biscuits my mother used to make. 'my mother's pies.' 'my mother's puddings' and 'my mother's daughnuts. The habit grew on him so much that he became a confirmed lunatic."

"Business has been at a standstill for so many months," said one of the customs officers this morning, "that meromers for their goods have allowed all their importations to go into the bonded warehouses until the latter are so crammed with goods that their walls are almost hoiging.

"For months goods have only been withdrawn on a hand-to-mouth system. Railroad many comport than has ever been known in the history of this port."

ing World' reporter he found time to say:

"The rush to withdraw goods has begun. We have in this district, which includes New York, Jersey City and Brooklyn, about 126 bonded warehouses and any number of free warehouses, the latter being generally used for the storage of sugar. In the bonoed warehouses to-day there are a million and a half packages of goods of all descriptions.

hair packages of gools of an decraptions.

"On the last of July the records showed that we had in bonded warehouses 700,150 proof gallons of whiskey. Yesterday the amount of duty paid into the cashier's office on whiskey withdrawais alone was $165,800, the largest amount of duty. I believe, ever received here in one day for withdrawals of whiskey. "Then there is a great quantity of to-bacco in storage, but as the new Tariff bill is more favorable to tobacco in the way of duty than the present one, I imagine that the owners will let all they can remain in bond until the new law goes into effect."

From another source it was learned that, as near as can be estimated, the Government would receive in duty about $30,000,000 if all the goods now in bonded warehouses at this port were withdrawn under the present Tariff law.

Regarding the various reports about the great amount of sugar stored here, a priminent sugar importer and broker who was at the Custom-House this morning, said that the truth of the matter is that there is not as much raw sugar at this port to-day as has been stored here at times past.

"A crop is only a crop," said he, "and high tariff or none at all, there will still be the year's crop of sugar, no more, no less. The yearly production about equals the consumption, and there is but little left over.

The customs officials anticipate a heavy withdrawal of all goods now in bonded warehouses on which the new tariff increases the duty, but they also expect heavy and immediate importations in the same line. It is thought that merchandise now in bond on which the duty will be lowered by the new measure will be allowed to remain there the duty will be lowered by the new measure will be allowed to remain there to benefit by the reduction in duty.

There will be heavy withdrawals of champagnes and wines of all kinds, the customs officers say, but as yet the businers has not begun to any great extent. This morning the Appraiser's office and the Custom-House was filled with brokers and representatives of big dry-goods importing houses, arranging for the taking out of goods from bond. The brokers are happy, for they see plenty of business and money to be made after many, many months of dull times.
